NEERMAHAL

Neermahal is a former summer palace built in 1930 AD by the King Bir Bikram Kishore Manikya Bahadur of the erstwhile Kingdom of Tripura. Neermahal literally means 'Water Palace'. The palace is a picturesque fairytale royal mansion which is 53 km South of Agartala. Neer-Mahal was constructed as a summer residence of the king. The palace is situated in the middle of Rudrasagar Lake and assimilates Hindu and Muslim architectural styles. It is a fascinating sight to view the reflection of the palace on the placid waters of the Rudrasagar Lake.

The palace is the largest of its kind in India and the only one in Eastern India. There are only two water palaces in India, the other being the Jal Mahal in Rajasthan.

Neermahal is known as 'Lake Palace' of Tripura. It was Maharaja Bir Bikram Kishore Manikya Bahadur's idea to build a palace in the beautiful Rudrasagar lake and in 1921 he accredited the British company Martin and Burns to construct the palace for him. The company took nine years to complete the work. The palace is the embodiment of Maharaja's great taste and his fascinating idea of blending Hindu and Muslim traditions and cultures. The palace is divided into two parts. The western side of the palace is known as Andar Mahal. It was made for the royal family. The eastern side is an open-air theatre where drama, theatre, dance and other cultural events were organized for the enjoyment of Maharajas and their royal families. The palace has 24 rooms in total. The dome-shaped minarets of the palace have attributed a fort-like look to the mansion. The 'Darbar Hall' of the palace even today stands as an epitome of past royal pomp and grandeur. Neermahal has two stairways inside leading down to a landing on the waters of Rudrasagar Lake. Maharajas used to go to the palace by manually rowed boat from Rajghat.

Rudrasagar Lake covers an area of about 5.3 sq. km and is home to variety of resident as well as migratory birds. Facilities for boating and water sports are available and boat festival is held every year in Rudrasagar in the month of July/August.
